

Imagine the comfort of a sofa combined with the postural support of a traditional desk and task chair. Meet Cocoon, a high back sofa with a roof expertly engineered and designed to absorb background noise and insulate from external distraction.

Offering infinite possibilities: create warm, informal areas for collaboration or provide a base for visitors or nomad workers. Cocoon can be finished in a range of colors and offers optimum ease of movement, thanks to castors and slimline shape that fits easily through a standard doorway.
